Bobby,

after discussing the structure and purpose of each lane under asset 11, there are a few changes we are making to the training structure.

1. education and training lane, these are the physical training facilities and colleges.
2. accrediting lane, governing board which sets the standards, requirements, rules, guidelines, and audit process for the individual education and training facilities.
3. credentialing lane, administer final testing, verification of proficiency, certification, and the issuance of credentials.

questions;
1. is APEA accrediting schools and training facilities in the defacto system?
2. which lane is research under? lisa stated research is typically conducted in the individual education facilities.
3. is APEA accrediting other existing schools and training facilities? we have approximately 20-30 million peacekeepers and EMS service personnel working in the current system and a short period of time to bring them up to speed.
